English

Loved the game on mobile, even better in VR. But it's just too blurry like its default is low resolution with no option to increase it.. Would be a little more fun if the graphics weren't so rough. The bike looks pretty good, but everything else is blurry. Not much depth to it, but for less than $4 what does one expect. Would be nice if a project like this ended up being like Road Redemption or Road Rash. I used an xbox 360 controller. Holding your hands up with the motion controller get uncomfortable after a while. It's more accurate and you still have the feeling of being on the bike using a standard controller. If the devs could sharpen those graphics it would be a decent time killer.. DEVS: if you respond to this with a solution I'll change my review.

This could be a great game. I'm aware that I haven't given it much of a chance because in game visuals are important to me, especially in VR. I have a 2080 ti. Needless to say that my computer can handle anything that this game throws at it.

However, the game automatically picked an appalling resolution and won't let me change it. Seriously, there is no "graphics" tab in the settings. SteamVR settings don't seem to have any effect.

If a "render resolution" tab is added to the settings I'll change my review. Otherwise, what can you possibly give a PC game without any graphics scalability but a big thumbs down.
